

ABSTRACT

Heat exchange unit of the so-called multiservice type comprising a substantially cylindrical shell closed at the opposite ends by respective base plates, a plurality of 5 heat exchangers supported inside this shell and in fluid communication with the outside thereof.